COMMUNITY WIDE STEWARDSHIP OF PRAYER

On Friday, January 15, at 12:05 PM, stop and pray for the realization of the dream of Martin Luther King to use nonviolent means to create a beloved community for all people.

Now what!

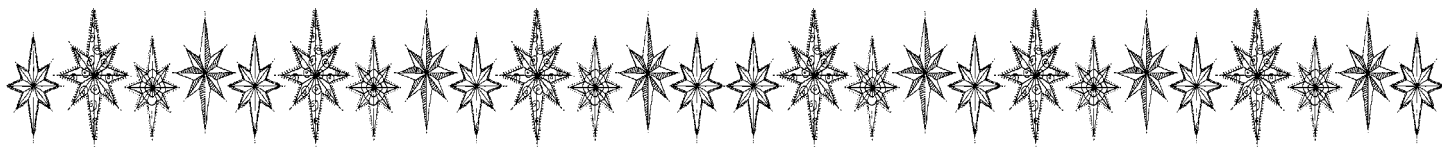

The Christmas Liturgical season is done as of this Sunday. Here comes Ordinary Time in the Church calendar. It's time to clean up the Christmas tree and put the ornaments away again for another year. Isn't it nice to get back to ordinary, routine, and the expected? Of course, there are some leftovers from the Christmas season, bills, stuff to find a place for, thank you letters to write. For myself, I am looking at my Christmas cards and trying to decide what to do about them. I finally read them all, well, almost all. I wait until after Christmas so that I can enjoy them and then hope to respond. One year, I took a couple cards at a time, prayed for the folks and sent them a Christmas card. The last ones went out before Holy Week. No one seemed to object when they received them so late.

We do reflect on Jesus coming among us. Now is the time to make Him real in our lives and in our homes. In a recent reflection at the funeral home, one of the relatives mentioned that they cleaned out the apartment of the woman who died. It was apparent that she loved St. Francis and his way of life. There were many books on his spirituality, talks that he gave, and mementoes of his life. What a beautiful testimony.

This might be a good project. Suppose that you died and the relatives, along with the priest, would come to your house, apartment and start to clean up your cupboard, drawers, closets. What would they find? What would it say about your way of life and the important things, which you treasure? Enjoy the trip! By the way, did you find any religious objects, books on spirituality, the bible? What else would you want to be there? What will you have to throw out before they show up?

God bless our cleanup!

The Catholic Annulment Mission of Justice – Ministry of Healing

Many Catholics, and most non-Catholics, often think of the annulment as little more than a Catholic Divorce. Nothing could be farther from the truth! Our Church truly believes that a valid marriage, which it defines for the young couple on their wedding day as “sign and symbol of God’s ever faithful love for his people,” cannot be destroyed by any force on earth, not by the civil state, not by the Church, not by the couple who is facing some difficulty.

On the other hand, the Church also recognizes that human beings have been weakened by the effects of original sin and often make rash decisions, quick judgments and foolish choices that can lead to invalid marital consent and all the consequences of being in a place we never should have gone. What do we do in a situation where consent itself lacked any of the necessary binding force Jesus would want for something as sacred as any of the seven sacraments?

That’s where justice comes in. Since its earliest days, the Church has had a Mission to provide justice for the People of God. Church Tribunals have existed at least since the time of St. Paul to settle disputes, as when any person believes that for some specific reason the consent he or she gave to marriage was flawed. Why courts to determine anything at all about marriage? Because marriage is a public celebration of a sacrament, and all seven have been entrusted to the Church for their proper and valid celebration, not to any of us as individuals. Since the initial consent was to a sacrament, only the custodian of the sacraments can examine the facts and render a decision as to the validity of consent to the sacrament.

So where does healing come in? In fact, when we humans make mistakes the consequences can cause huge rifts between persons, between people and family, between individuals and the larger community of faith. Jesus gave the Church vast powers to begin to effect healing, as when we Celebrate the Sacraments of Healing, Anointing of the Sick and Reconciliation. But there are other ways to bring about healing in the mind and soul, and among these is the process involved in self-examination of what led to a particular act of consent, where it went astray and how then are we to return to the wholeness Jesus seeks for each of us?

Want to know more? Why not plan now to attend a special evening of information on the process of the Catholic Annulment right here at the parish, January 14 at 7 p.m. in the St. Wendelin Parish Hall. Come hear Fr. Chris Vasko, our diocesan expert in the Catholic Annulment, as well as the testimony of those who have used this process to effect healing and renewal in their own lives.

The church is beautiful!!!

I have heard so many comments over the Christmas season about how beautiful the church looks! We have a wonderfully talented and dedicated Art and Environment crew who worked for days to get the church looking like it does! I would like to thank the following folks who did so much to beautify the church: Nan Schuett, Glenda and Mike Corcoran, Susie and Jerry Tiell, Becky and Len Haaser, Liz and Al Leibengood, Gloria Martinez, Jane VandeKerkhoff, Sue Gehring, Louise Bello, Diann Hay and Peggy Basel. A special thanks goes to our maintenance crew as well for all their efforts in hanging the decorations: Greg Williams, John Perry, Romi Martinez, Joe Garcia and Jim Spero!

In particular, many have commented on the beautiful angel banners that are hung behind the altar. Sue Gehring worked over 90 hours to paint those banners. They will grace our church for years to come at various times during the liturgical year!

Finally, it is because of your generous donations towards the Christmas and Easter flower memorial fund that we are able make the Church look as it does! Thanks to everyone who contributed to making this Christmas season so memorable!

In Christ,
Fr. Eric

As we honor our own and other Christian traditions, we will begin the observance of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. An informal reception open to the public will follow in the chapel, which is the original diocesan cathedral. This is a great opportunity for all ages and many of the visiting representatives from other faiths will wear traditional ceremonial attire. For more information contact the Diocesan Communications office at 419-244-6711 ext 148 or communications@toledodiocese.org.
